

I'm just starting out, how can I get into theatre?

www.getintothetheatre.org is an amazing resource with a variety of services including free advice from experienced theatre practitioners. Former Chol Director, Andrew Loretto helped set this website up through the Young People's Participatory Theatre project (YPPT). Although primarily targeted at young people, this website and the information is helpful to all aspiring theatre makers and shakers.

Other useful resources include:

www.artscouncil.org.uk – Arts Council England regularly funds Chol Theatre and other arts organisations. Subscribe to their Arts Jobs newsletter for current job postings in the industry.

<http://www.thestage.co.uk/> - a weekly publication for the theatre industry

www.nsdf.org.uk National Student Drama Festival (NSDF)- a useful email newsletter that is free to subscribe to.

These are all good starting points. Be sure to also check out other theatre companies and venues for more information.
